Grange Camp Association Race Meeting Will Open Up Next Week.

The opening of the racing, in connection with the agricultural fair and exhibition of the Grange Camp Association, on Alexander Island has been postponed until some time next week. It was explained at the office of the association that the delay in opening was due to the failure to have a well sunk for water. This will be provided in the near future.

It was reported that a flaw in the charter was the stumbling block, inasmuch as the making of books on the races was prohibited within a radius of two miles from the fair ground. This is denied by the officials of the ociation, and the charter shows the directors of the association are empowered to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors and all games of chance upon their grounds and within a radius of two miles at or during the time of helding their lates.

Lyman, the driver of the pacer Grover S., 2:14%, that it was claimed was poisoned at Philadelphia in 1892. The plea was made, not in extennation of his goilt, but that his punishment had been severe enough to work his complete reforma-tion. Petitions were presented from the of-fleers of the trotting association in Bingham-ton, N. Y., and from many other members in Pennsylvania and New York, and these evi-dently had weight with the board, for his temporary reinstatement was granted.

Lasker Afraid of Poisoning. MONTREAL, May 11 .- Chess enthusiasts were startled this morning by the report that Lasker had left this city for St. Johns, and it Lasker had left this city for St. Johns, and it is almost certain now that the world's chamisonship chess match would be again postponed to-morrow. Lasker has been very reticent, and the other evening complained to the president of the Metropolitan Club that members were continually offering him drinks. He is evidently afraid that he will be possoned or drugged, and it has been suggested that a placard be put upon the club bulletin board forbidding members to ask him to drink on pain of expulsion. Steinitz is well and takes things easy.

Events at St. Louis.

St. Louis Mo., May II.—With a light card and a small attendance to-day, the sport at the fair grounds was, decidedly uninteresting, both to the speculators and to the bookmakers. The betting was the lightest of the meeting and but twenty pencillers drew in to take care of speculation. Though the weather was cool and traking good condition, winners exected themselves particularly in landing the five events.

Washington Dropped to the Last Place by Losing to New York.

New York, May 11.—For six innings the Senators were right in the game to-day and held a clear lead, but the Giants solved the mystery of Petty's curves in the seventh and eighth innings and won out by a length. It was a pretty game, and both teams played fast ball in the field. The errors were few, while Petty and Westervelt pitched fair ball, of run getting.

The Senators by losing to-day's game dropped into last place in the pennant race, but Manager Schmelz is not discouraged, and is confident his ream will make a better showing after the men become accustemed to their politions. The atendance at to-day's game was 1,500. The score:
